TO "THE JILTED LITTLE MAN." She jilted you-small Jonathan, But go not for to cry, For if, when you had " axed as how," She'd " stinted and said aye;" You'd had to gin the clerk a fee, To cry in church for fun, And had to pay the parson too,

For making you two one. You'd had to buy a bed and tick, And tie it for the bed; You'd had to buy a broom and stick, The stick to break your head; You'd had to buy a cradle, too, To hold a pretty Bill.

You'd have to play the nurse to Bill, While Billy's ma made pies, And change him when he needed change, And still him when he cries; You'd have to go, when wife said go, And come when she said come, Talk when she pleased to bid you talk, Be mum when she said mum.

And you would find your little Bill, A bill would be to you, And that a husband's place to fill, Was more than you could do; And, your wife seeing how things went, Since you and she were wed, Would take your business off your hands, And ornament your head.

Therefore, allow-small Jonathan, A stranger for to say, That when Miss Molly jilted you, It was a happy day; For, had she been true to her troth Plighted on "ring of brass," It would have been but few short months Before you'd gone to grass.

The old ladies of Providence are after "Nat.," too, with broom stick and poker, for intimating that their room is better than their company, sometimes, when beaux call to see their daughters. Here it is, copied from the Providence Journal:-

Answer to a poetical article published in the Boston Morning Post, addressed "To the mothers of beau-tiful daughters."

Young men, how much we honor you, We need not here express; But that we've not a preference for Young dandies, we confess.

Our daughters, you must know, prefer Young men of sense, so rare, To fools who dare not show their heads Where their good mothers are. The gardener watches with more care,

The rose tree whose young blossoms are Just budding into birth. For more they need the hand to form And rear them to his eye; When taken from the parent stock,

And warms with fresher earth,

A simile I might suggest, My meaning to explain, But needlessly I would not give The poor young dandies pain. Unto the wise a modest hint

They often droop and die.

Sufficient is, we know; But some there are, to whom we think A kick should also go. We feel for all a high respect, Where such respect is due;

But that, be sure, our lovely girls

Do not concede to you. At once, the impropriety Of forcing them to be Receivers of such visitors,

You certainly will see. We would be plain, though you should deem Such plainness somewhat rude; If you should call, we would suggest, Perhaps you may intrude.

Foreign Correspondence of the Morning Post. Buildings in London-Fish Hill Monument-Royal Exchange-Temple Bar-Church of St. Dunstan-Westminster Abbey-Colisaum-View of London,

In my last I gave you a peep at the Tower. In this, I shall mention the few other buildings of London, that in these hurried sketches I purpose to notice. Passing to and from the Tower, we came upon the monument on Fish Hill, a column erected to commemorate the great fire of London in 1666, which it is somewhat curious to remark, began in Pudding Lane and stopped at Pie Corner. An inscription on its base ascribes, (no doubt falsely,) the origin of the fire to the Papists. This is no longer believed, by sober-minded people, and it is surprising, I think, that the authorities have not long since caused it to be erased. Passing the Mansion House, or dwelling of the Lord Mayor, and the Bank of England, neither of which are remarkable for their architecture, we visited the Royal Exchange at the hour of High Change. This is a quadrangular building enclosing an open court. In the centre stands the Statue of Charles II, and in niches in the second story, those of the other Kings of England, beginning with Edward I. Here we found assembled, those who composed the mercantile community of the Emporium of the World, -a numerous, intelligent, busy crowd. Each merchant has his particular stand, where he may always be found; while in every direction, might be seen in active circulation, the Brokers, most of whom are Jews, as their dark complexions, black eagle eyes, Roman noses, and otherwise strongly marked features plainly told, facilitating the exchanges between the buyers and the sellers. The sight was a curious one; but much more so, the busy buz, occasioned by the commingling sounds escaping from so many lips, all eager to improve to the utmost, the hour allowed them to transact their business here; for at the end of that time, the loud and harsh sound of a heavy bell, drowns all voices by its discordant tones, and disperses even this company of eager votaries of mammon, who, without some such method had been devised for their expulsion, would probably cat and sleep here. In the same building I visited Lloyd's Rooms, which offer nothing to interest the traveller, beyond the consideration that from this place radiate, as from a common centre, those rays of intelligence which are to the commercial world, what the rays of the Sun are to the Planitary system.

Of all the gates of ancient London only one remains, now called Temple Bar; and this is now in the very heart of the city; over it are the statues of Charles I. and II., and of Queen Elizabeth and James I. Near it rises the quaint old church of St. Dunstan, in a niche of which, faeing the street, stands two figures to strike the hours. The heads of persons executed for high treason were formerly exposed to public view, over the gate of Temple Bar.

On Sunday afternoon I attended service in Westminster Abbey; my path lay through St. James' Park, and as I passed the station of the Horse Guards, I could not help pausing for a few moments to admire the showy uniforms, and soldier-like bearing of the mounted sentinels, as they sat, motionless as statues, upon their noble steeds, in what by analogy must be called sentry boxes, at the gates. The hour of service not having yet arrived, I walked through the cathedral to examine the numerous, ancient, and many of them curious monuments here, erected to preserve and transmit to posterity, the names of those whom rank or genius have raised above their fellow worms. Among these, are those of Mary Queen of Scots, and her unfeeling rival Elizabeth; of Henry III, and Henry VII; of Edward III, &c. &c. Here, also, I saw the shrine of Edward the Confessor, and the chairs in which the Kings and Queens of England are crowned-under the King's chair, is the stone called Jacob's Pillow, upon which the Kings of Scotland sat in ancient times to be crowned; and which Edward I, felonious conveyed away from Scone Palace near Perth. The chapel of Henry VIII, is justly considered one of the chastest specimens of the gothic style of architecture extant; but both the interior and exterior of the whole Pile must be seen to be appreciated, as no description could possibly do justice to it. London possesses in her St. Pauls' and Westminster Abbey, choice specimens of the Greek and Gothic styles of architecture, and most travellers, like myself, probable after long debating the subject in their minds, will come to the conclusion that they cannot make up their minds which to admire most, both are so grand and yet so dissimilar.

At 3 o'clock the services commenced in one of the chapels which was already lighted up, tho' day light still illumined the other parts of the building; but before the conclusion, the approaching shades of evening threw an air of sombre grandenr over the scene which was quite enchanting. The choir which consisted of men and boys, habited in loose white gowns, assisted by some females, occupied a part of the ground floor. The sermon was not remarkable but the music was very fine.

Among other buildings that I have visited, in the Colisceum, a handsome building in the Regent's Park, containing among other things a panoramic view of London, the position of the spectator being the steeple of St. Paul's. Such a view of the city is necessary in order to form some idea of its extent and geographical features. The weather since my arrival in London has been so foggy, that a real view of London from St. Paul's has been impossible-indeed, I was told that it was only in the summer season, and early in the morning before the fires were lighted, that the atmosphere was sufficiently clear to allow the artist to take his drawings of it.

BOSTON MORNING POST.

MONDAY, MARCH 20, 1837.

83- The following remarks relative to the Boston Advocate, and the Collectorship of this Port, are copied from the Lowell Advertiser :--

The Boston Advocate of Friday declared that it would " make no further allusions to" our article on the Collectorship, and we treated the subject accordi Monday's mail brought that paper with a full column of allusions and objections to our article, which we shall briefly notice.

The Advocate says "we have taken offence very unnecessarily, as it thinks." Now we think otherwise. So there is an honest difference of opinion. It admits that "As the expression of opinion of the editor or editors of a democratic press, our article on the Collectorship, was entitled to respectful attention; and that "In so far as it might be supposed in unison with the sentiments of the Democracy of Lowell, it merited great consideration."Agreed. We think pretty much as the Advocate thinks, in the views here taken of ourselves and the opinions of the Democracy of Lowell, "But," continues the Advocate, "upon neither, nor both of these accounts would it have been of conseque enough to counterbalance the strong reason for our resolution not to meddle with a subject so likely to produce difficulty as that of the Boston Collectorship," &c. Here is the pith of the whole matter in a nut-shell. It was with great reluctance that the Advocate finally spoke on the subject because it was so likely to produce difficulty. This was and is the principal reason why the Legislative caucus should have let it alone. This is the main reason why we declared their proceedings mischievous and inexcusable; and it is good and sufficient. But how does the Advocate excuse itself for not " defending the democratic members of the Legislature" when they were actually attacked " with the ferocity of the Whig Atlas"? It talks about our attacking them "with a ferocity wor-thy of the whig Atlas," and flares up to defend them with a courage equal to the great emergency and the occasion. It could scarcely res rain its joy at the defeat of the party in our municipal election in this city; and with an air of importance equal to Col. Pluck, attributed it to our abuse of the democratic members of the Legislature, and Mr Mansur's ultra course on the tariff question. that was not enough, it gave us to understand which way the wind was blowing, by declairing that our defeat was more than counterbalanced by the success of the democratic ticket for town officers in Worcester, where it boastingly declared that Jubal Harrington was chosen chairman of the board of Selectmen. Is there any mistaking the feelings and motives of such miserable crying out? This looking one way and rowing another, wont go down in Middlesex.

The Advocate says that " we are too much entangled with the errors of our first proceeding to tempt it into the field of personalities where we might change our ground." Not so. There is nothing in our first proceeding that we wish to take back. There is no ground that we wish to change on this question. We are perfectly satisfied that we have had the right of it from the beginning; and we only regret that the Advocate should have misrepresented our object and motives. We never heard or knew from any source that there was to be a Legislative caucus respecting the Collectorship, till we saw the proceedings published in the "ferocious whig Atlas." The account of the Atlas was, as we understood it, substantially denied by the Post, but afterwards, in conversation with one of our Representatives, we were told that there was " too much truth in it." We then came out as we did, and we do not regret it. It is no new thing for us to take ground against Legislative caucuses assuming the power of speaking for the party at large, upon questions of even nominations of candidates for State Officers.

But in a case like the one in question, where the appointment is that of an United States Officer, which appointment belongs exclusively to the President and Senate of the United States, who alone are responsible for it, the attempt of a few designing and interested persons to attach an importance to, and obtain a consequence for their nomination, by foisting it upon the executive as the act of a "majority of the Republican members of the Legisla-ture," and consequently as a favorite one of the party, when, in fact, stript of its wig and false corls, it stands out as their own bantling, naked and "all forlorn" as it is folly run ma !. As to the appointment of Collector, we repeat the sentiment heretofore propagated by us, that he should be a friend of the administration, and that this is expected by every reasonable and respectable member of the federal party: But he should also be acceptable, in a business point of view, to the mercantile community. He should, if possible, he acceptable, also, to the republicans of the State but especially of Boston. In regard to any executive appointment whatever, we hold also that every man who desires to do so, whether a "representative of the people," or "one of the people themselves," has a perfect right to present the claims of his favorite, or remonstrate against the claims of his neighbor's favorite, in any such fair and honorable way, as to him may seem proper; but he has no right to stir up ill blood, finds, and party strife, to gratify his personal spite, or for the base consideration of pecuniary emoluments. We have no favorite, whose claims we wish to arge at the expense of the peace and prosperity of the party; and as often as we see others at this work of mischief, we shall expose them.

The Advocate says that we " ought to know that a sus picion has got abroad, that the sneers and taunts habitually included in certain quarters against all later accessions to the party (of which be it remarked by the way, we have had our full share) are not used without systematic design to deter all persons from joining the party."
Yes, we do know that such a suspicion has got abroad, that some of the oldest and most sterling democrats of the State want to "keep the party evidently small." But we know also that it was propagated by such politicians as Ralph Huntington, John H. Derby, Rev. Theophilus Fiske and their associates, for base and selfish purposes; and we are sorry to see so respectable a paper as the Advocate stoop so low as to pick up and endorse the miserable slang. There is not, and never was the slightest ground for it, so far as we know or beli-ve. If the Advocate has had its full share of taunts and sneers, as a new comer, it has probably provoked them by its officious pertness in meddling with local party matters. Who has circulated suspicions injurious to Messrs Mansur and Rantoul? Does the Advocate suppose it can indulge in its flings at such men, without being reminded by their friends that its democracy is not yet three years old. We notice that with all its pretensions to the title of Defender of the " Republican Members of the Legislature," so far as this county is concerned, it has treated them with the utmost contempt, in regard to the nomination of County Commissioner.

They held a meet ng regularly called by the proper organs of the party, at which "the later accessions to the party" were fully represented, and at which one of their number was unanimously nominated for County Treasurer, and of the one earlier accessions for Commissioner, What did the Advocate do? Why it supported the "later accession," and rejected the earlier; and, as though that was not sufficient, it adopted a still later accession for Commissioner, instead of the regular nomination! And it complains that habitual sneers and taunts have been indulged in certain quarters, &c., and that they have not been " without systematic design."

How does this matter of "later accession" stand in Middlesex? Why thus: Three of our five Senators are of "later accessions;" and most cheerfully were they welcomed to a full participation of the confidence and support of the whole party; and well have they deserved both the one and the other. So also our County Treasurer (that will be shortly) has been heartily and cheerfully supported by the whole democratic party of the County; and richly do we think has be merited it; while the organ of a portion of the later accessions has deserted the earlier accessions and gone the whole for the later and is backed by the Advocate. Is there any, systematic design in this to deter all persons from staying with the party?
We have reluctantly been drawn into a statement of these facts. Justice to ourselves and our friends required it. We have done our duty: and we have only to say, in closing, that Middlesex County is democratic to the core, and that the mismanagement in a certain quarter, will only serve to open the eyes of both the earlier and later acces sions here, to the necessity of abiding by the regular nominations; and of acting in concert, and with heartfelt una-nimity, as heretofore. Whatever causes of misunderstandings there may be in Suffolk, none exist, and none will exist, in Middlesex. We shall unite, if delivered from Suffoik opposition, to the regular nomination, at the next trial for County Commissioner, and elect our candidate .-

Rumors .- The Correspondent of the New York Jourxal of Commerce writes from Washington under date of March 13, thus-

" Mr Adams is still here. I learn that, upon his return to Quincy, he is engaged to write for an Abolition paper, which has been or is to be established there by the American Anti-Slavery Society, for the especial purpose of availing themselves of Mr Adams's ready and caustic pen in behalf of their great purpose of agitation. Mr Adams has already got more than four hundred Abolition petitions ready for presentation, in detail, at the next Congress. By the time Congress meets, he will doubtless have four thousand; -and, by raising a row upon each, he can consume the whole session. Among the petitions which he has in his possession and would have presented on one of the two last petition days if he had been allowed an opportunity, is one from the free blacks of the city of Boston, - with which he and his friends hope to make an excitement equal to that occasioned by the slave petition. An Abolition candida e for the Presidency will be nominated by a general convention, which is to be held during the next year, probably at Harrisburgh. Mr Adams has undoubtedly a very good chance to receive the nomination; and no effort will be wanting on his part, to merit it."

As to Mr W's personal popularity, it has not been exceeded by that of any member of the Cabinet since he went into it, and we risk but little in saying, that Mr Van Buren esteems him as one of mocracy of New England, he is held in the highest admiration and respect, and looked upon with pride as their epresentative at the seat of the national government. Great Failure .- The New Orleans American of the 7th inst. announces a failure in that city for seven millions of dollars, carrying with it full five millions more. The names are not given, but the New York times says that the above house is an eminent Jewish establishment, which will be abundantly able, after a short time, to meet its engagements, and proceed in the extensive business in which it is engaged. The stoppage was caused by the want of immediate funds, and not for lack of resources, finally, to meet the whole of its just demands.

Since the above was in type we have received further in telligence. The house alluded to is Hermann, Briggs & Co A letter from New Orleans to the Messrs Josephs, at New York, says-

"We addressed you on the 7th inst. in relation to the Mairs of Hermann, Briggs & Co. Since then their matters have taken several different turns, and at last, by the proposition of yesterday, promise an early and satisfactory adjus ment, of which there is a scarcely a doubt, as the points of the arrangement, in a measure, came from the Banks themselves.

nation in New York, and already led to many failures, as possible to me, and I'll take care how I get into such a scrape and must produce more. The excitement in this city upon the reception of the news was very general. The Reading Room was thronged with merchants upon the arrival of the mail, and the New Orleans and New York failures dow, for which was doomed to pay $7.50 were the only subjects of conversation. We presume, however, that these events will not affect our merchants individually, to any considerable extent.

Charlestown Bridge.-It seems from the memorial of an hundred times better. the proprietors of the Charles River Bridge, that since Warren Bridge has become free, the old bridge has not taken toll enough to pay for attending it. It is very remarkable that the numerous friends of the old Bridge, who were so very anxious to compel their neighbors to pay toll to it, should avail themselves of a free avenue at the expense of their old friend, the old Bridge. Why do not these numerous friends, these sticklers for "vested rights," these advocates for "perpetuities," still go ever the old Bridge and pay toll ? Can they be just and generous only by legal compulsion?

MUNICIPAL COURT.

The Grand Jury, from ample testimony before them, came to the conclusion, that Mrs. Mary Barrett was an

"Alluring Venus, queen of vagrant love;"

and as it does not appear from history that Venus was of any Bill to the Committee for seven days attendance as a particular age, and as it furthermore does not appear from a statue representative of the ancient "harridan," exhibited in one witness at two dollars a day. * * * The Committee examined the Bill, and though composed of a majority of the scenes of "lon," at the Tremont, that a Venus need neof the friends of the Crown, refused to allow it. It will promote dispatch in the business of Legislation—thin and shorten speeches, and save money to the State.

NIE most safe, effectual and economical remedy for diseases of the Human Constitution, that has ever been dis-

These Pills are composed entirely of materials extracted from Medical Plants, and are warranted not to contain one particle of mercury, or any mineral substance. Dr Kingley, the inventor of this valuable medicine, from his knowledge of the Human System, derived from a long and extensive practice, has arrived to the conclusion, that the great and primary cause of most diseases is a derangement in the functions of the liver; or, in other words, an increased or diminished secretion of the Bile.

So well is this understood, that it is common for persons to say when they feel unwell, that they are illious, meaning that they have too much bile in the stomach. On the other hand, when the flow of bile is diminished, the process of digestion is imperfectly performed, the patient becomes weak and emaciated, because nourishment contained in the food taken into the stomach is not properly extracted, and the food is ejected in a crude state. Dr Kingley is confident that the famous Hygeian Theory, so called, that "impurity of the blood is the cause of all diseases," is a great absurdity. Every one who reflects upon the subject a moment, will perceive that impurity of the blood is a secondary, not a primary complaint—the effect and not the cause of disease. When the functions of the liver are deranged, and the flow of bile increased, it is often taken up by the absorbent vessels and carried into the So well is this understood, that it is common for persons to often taken up by the absorbent vessels and carried into the circulation, and becomes mingled with the blood as in Jaundice, when the patient shows it in his countenance. Now this impurity of the blood is caused by an increased flow of the bile, and to remedy it you must correct the secretion of the ver and restore it to a healthy state.

Dr Kingley has spent much time in experimenting with different vegetable medicines, for diseases of the liver, and now offers his Universal Family Pills as the best, most convenient and cheapest medicine that can be prepared for general use and in offering them to the public, he is actuated more by be nevolent then pecuniary motives, as the price of the medicine

Dr Kingley flatters himself that his long experimenting with vegetable medicines has enabled him to discover the true and only substitute answering all the purposes of mercurials, without any of their attendant evils. One great quality of his Family Pills is that they have the alterative principle combined with their cathartic or operative quality, so that they regulate the process the morbid secretions, but en the digestive organs, purify the blood, invigorate the circumstance. lation, and give tone and energy to the nervous system

They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and convey alm st immediate conviction of their utility from the first dose. They can be taken with safety by persons of any age, and the feeble, the inflim, the nervous, the delicate, are strengthened by their operation, because they clear the system of bad hu-mor, quiet nervous irritabilities and restles-ness, from whatever source, and invariably produce sound sleep

The Family Pills are an invariable remedy for the aundice, sick an 1 nervous headache, dyspepsia, costiveness, sickness of the stomach, heartburg, all brious complaints, fevers of all kinds, and it taken at the commencement will invariably check their progress, and save the patient from a protracted and dan gerous sickness. They are invaluable in nervous and hypo-They are invaluable in nervous and hypocondrical affections, loss of appetice, and all complaints to which ismales alone are subject. They operate as a mild and speedy purge, and are a sate and certain remedy for worms in

Since I have introduced my Universal Family Pills to the public I have received numerous cert ficates of their superior efficacy in curing diseases; also many letters from respectable physicians who have used them in their practice with the best

I might publish a small volume of certificates, but consider it unnecessary, as the medicine will recommend JOHN KINGLEY. who will make trial of it. These Pills are put up in neat boxes of two sizes; the small size contains 25 pills, a. d the retail price is 25 cents, the large size contains 10 pills, the price is 50 cents.

LIGHTNING CONDUCTORS.

R KING, continues to prepare and affix to buildings his improved lightning conductors—they are approved of by all practical Electricians as affording superior protection against lightning to the old round form. Numbers of scien tific gentlemen in Boston and its vicinity, have had them affixed by him to their Mansions and other buildings, among them he will name those of President Quincy, Professor Webster and Popkin of Harvard University, Governor Lincoln of Worcester. They were likewise highly recommended by Professor Silliman in his much esteemed lectures on Chemistry lately delivered in Boston. Gentlemen intending to have conductors, are invited to his room No 54 Cornhill, bos: too, where they may see the superior effect of his rods il-justrated. He continues to manufacture, and has on hand large plate Electrical machines of superior powers, also Cylinder's—Large and small Galvanic batteries, Electro Magnets and their apparatus-warranted of the best workman-ship. He lately constructed for Professor Silliman the largest Galvanic Deflagator ever made. Gentlemen arriving in Boston to purchase such articles, would do well to call before they buy. Dr. LOVEMAN'S Balm of Gilead is universally acknowlof appetite, indigestion, depression of spirits, trembling or shaking of the hands or limbs, shortness of breath, and consumptive habits. It this the blood, eases the most violent pain in the head and stomach, and promotes gentle perspira-tion. By the Medical Faculty this medicine is much admired being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fibres of the stomach, and giving that proper tensity which a

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead is recommended to the weak, the relaxed, and debilitated, as an agreeable and speedy restorative; and considered as a cordial, is essential to the comfort of ladies of fashion, being a preventive against cold, when taken before going out to parties, balls, routs or the play. It will enliven the spirits and invigorate the mind and body, and if taken after fatigue, it will with a few hours sleep, take away all languor consequent on broken rest, and give relief from every unpleasant separation.

the body—at other times a sense of cold, as if water was poured on them—flying pains in the arms and limbs, back and belly, resembling those occasioned by the gravel—the pulse very variable, sometimes uncommonly slow, at other times very quick-yawning, the hiccough, frequent sighing, and a sense of suffication, as from a ball or lump in the throat-alternate fits of crying and convulsive laughing-the sleep unsound, and seldom refreshing, and the patient often troubled with horrid dreams. Much has been said by interested indiwith norma dreams. Much has been said by interested indi-viduals against Medicines that are advertised, but there is a very important observation to be made respecting Dr Love-man's Balm of Gilead, that unless its operation was gentle' safe and efficacious, it could not have obtained the unexampled demand it has acquired.

NERVOUS DEBILITY "Without Health we can enjoy no Fortune; Honors, Riches, and all other advontages are useless."

This Cordial has been uncommonly successful with young people who have the appearance and air of old age, who are pale, effeminate, benumbed, stupid, and even imbecile; whose bodies are become bent, whose legs are no longer able to carry them, who have an utter distaste for every thing, and are totally incapacitated. Where the stemach is frequently disordered, the body is weakened; paleness, bodily decay and emaciation succeed, and the eyes sink into the head. The virtues of Dr Loveman's Balm of Gileadere demonstrated, in oradicating the worst and most dangerous symptoms of peroradicating the worst and most dangerous symptoms of ner-vous debility, and nothing has tended so much to establish the vous deplity, and nothing has tended so much to establish the fame of this medicine, as its certain success in those complaints which strike their roots so deep in the constitution, and are so fatal to the happiness of mankind.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead has risen in repute with every triat of its efficacy. Some, perhaps, unacquainted with its virtues, not having perused the Guide to Heslth, may be induced to ask what is the Balm of Gilead good for? What complaint day it gare? To asswer this it will be necessary to ced to ask what is the Baim of Glead good for f. What com-plaint doth it cure?—To answer this it will be necessary to "Hold the Mirror up to Nature."

Let those who are afflicted in the following manner reflect on the cause that produced such havoc upon the "wholesome appetites and powers of life:"—disordered stomach, dry cough, weakness in the voice hoarseness, shortness of breath upon the least exercise, and relaxation of the whole system. Those afflicted with paleness, languor of the eyes, weakuess of sight or memory, should take time to consider Linneus's advice, that "youth is the important period for forming a robust constitution," and that "nothing is to be dreaded so much as premature excess." The foundation of a happy old age is a as premature excess. In a contractor of a happy of a age is a good constitution in youth; temperance and moderation at that age are passports to happy grey hairs.

For such as have violated these precepts, then, this healing balm is suitable—complaints included in the vague appellation of Nervous and Consumptive, are those for which it is

In offering this medicine to the public, I can say with confidence that they will find great benefit by using it in all diseases recommended, as I am fully acquainted with the medical qualities, as they have been discovered by myself, and are exracted from vegetables, and I can truly say, there is no earth ly danger in using the medicine by any person, no matter how they may be afflicted. This medicine has been used by a large number of persons, and have been cured of diseases of a ong standing, when all other medicines have failed.

It has not been confined to modern times, and Dr Palmer has had the happiness of restoring, in its purity, the Palmer has had the happiness of restoring, in its purity, the long lost article which was in such vogue in the days of yore. It is offered with the fullest confidence as to its merits, to which thousands who have nsed it can tostity, and should any lady or gentleman who, by misfortune, have been afflicted with noisome breath or bad teeth, make one trial of its virtues, and noticel perfectly satisfied of its efficacy, then "Othelo's occupation's gone."

The Diman Pearl Tooth Powder, and Revolves is no modern.

The Diman Pearl Tooth Powder and Brushes is no modern quackery. It requires no puffing, no paragraphing, te render it uses as general as its effects are delightful. The ingredients are of a nature which cannot injure, and must beautify the teeth and sweeten the breath. The certificates of many of the ablest medical practitioners of this country will testify to the fact, and the innumerable recommendatory letters, from ladies and gentlemen who have used it are sufficient guarantees for its worth.

THE TRUTH OUGHT TO PREVAIL.

R. A. ANDREW, No 8 North Square, will not attempt to impose upon the good sense of his fellow citizens, as many do so much as to promise to cure the following disorders in eight and forty hours, viz: Gonorrhæa, Syphilis, &c.; but this much he will say, that he has met with as great success in the treatment of the above diseases, as any other physician in the city, and will accept the challenge of any respectable M. D. in the United States, patient to patient. His remedy is easy and safe—to those who may please to apply and pay his fee, he will insure a safe and speedy cure—it will not hinder them from their different avocations. The utmost secrecy observed.
